Leadership: It Starts with You

Harness the Power of Personal Leadership

We've often heard the adage "everyone can be a leader", but what does this mean? More importantly, how is this relevant to your organization and your people? The most practical answer is to think of leadership in terms of character, not position or title. A leader is someone at any level who has grasped the ability to take charge of their thoughts, and consequently their actions, in any situation. [\[morelink\]](#)

Leading in Real Time:

How to be Ready, Responsive & Relevant in a Radically Changing World

As the world of business changes at an unprecedented rate, leaders are finding themselves in uncharted waters as they look for new strategies to evolve, adapt and succeed on the fly. When challenges of change and uncertainty strike, leaders must be ready to lead, even when the answers aren't immediately at their fingertips. [\[morelink\]](#)

Who Moved My Future?

Demystifying the Fear of Change

"Why is this happening?" "If it ain't broke, don't fix it." "We've always done it that way": Three clichés that have become part of the dialogue when it comes to the topic of change. Learning how to manage ourselves around situations and events that are outside of our control is not as complex as you may think, although the process often necessitates a shift in perspective, readiness to let go of the old and willingness to embrace the new. The Transformational Leader:

Be Bold. Be Real. Be Ready.

Today's emerging workforce are craving authentic experiences from their employers and preferred brands. In a world driven by rapid technological change, the human factor remains at the core of successful business and consumer relationships. Leaders who are relatable, transparent and real provide a unique, competitive advantage. When teams can openly communicate with their leaders regarding their career path, personal aspirations and direction of the business, they feel appreciated, heard, understood and included. The capacity of your leaders to lead with vision and transform their thinking are the greatest differentiators in dealing with change, engagement and retention. [\[morelink\]](#)

Staying Power: Success Strategies for Resilient Leadership Rethink, Respond, Rebound: Three Essential Strategies for Success

What makes a person resilient? Can resiliency be taught or are some people better able to rebound from adversity than others? The answers lay in how we first choose to interpret events that are outside of our control and the manner in which we respond to the inevitable peaks and valleys of life. In order to rise above challenges of any description, we need to focus on developing a mindset of managing rather than coping. [\[morelink\]](#)
